Founder and Chief Executive Officer of Gnutext®, LLC, a Local Source Textbook™ company, that offers low-cost, high-quality textbooks to students in multiple formats including in print, online, and for mobile devices. Personally formatted and published all materials. The following titles are currently offered and are being developed:

- The Physical Anthropology Quest – Individually wrote a printed study guide and online textbook, which has been used since 2006, saving students over $100,000 in textbook costs during that time.
- The Cultural Anthropology Journey – Organized a team of 8 authors to write a group online textbook, which has been used for several years.
- Introduction to Philosophy – Published a textbook written by Dr. Ted Preston for use in his classes at Rio Hondo College.
- An Ancient Way of Life – Published a textbook written by Dr. Ted Preston for use in his classes at Rio Hondo College.
- The Sociology Project – Organized a team of 10 authors to write a group online textbook, which will be available for students in Fall 2013.
- Other Philosophy Projects – Currently working with several philosophy professors to produce new titles that will be available in 2014.

Tim Shaw:

- I'm a politician, so bragging is what I do best! A few highlight from my resume (attached for your reference):
- * City Councilman/2012 Mayor from neighboring city
- * Board of Directors on county-wide transportation authority (OCTA)

- * senior staff member with California Senate Minority Leader Bob Huff
- * Former staff member with California governor and an Orange County Supervisor

Kevin Smith:

Smith, K.R., Hsieh, I., Saberi, K., Hickok, G. (2010). Auditory Spatial and Object Processing in the Human Planum Temporale: No Evidence for Selectivity. Journal of Cognitive Neuroscience, 22(4), 632-639.

Reviewer for the scholarly journals: Neuroimage and Journal of Neurophysiology

Andy Howard:

In the summer of 2013, I was part of a team that was awarded a research fellowship from the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation. The project was to design, implement, and test online courses using adaptive learning technology, which uses algorithms to create personalized learning paths based on student learning outcomes. The team included three instructional designers and four instructors; courses are being designed in the fall and a pilot program will be run in the spring of 2014.

It is really an interesting project; I hope to do a FLEX presentation in the spring or fall of next year to share my experiences with Rio.
